

Accuristix Announces New Director of Operations

Oakville, ON, May 3, 2010 - Cameron Joyce, President of Accuristix, is pleased to announce the appointment of Peter Hardtke as the new Director of Operations.

With over 20 years of logistics and operations management experience, Peter joins us from Novartis Consumer Health Canada Inc. where he most recently held the position of Manager of Supply Chain Operations responsible for inventory, distribution and logistics. His previous experience includes operations management positions at Polaroid Canada Inc. and J.A. Henckels Zwillingswerk Canada Ltd.

"I am thrilled to be joining Accuristix to support our move towards operational excellence in healthcare logistics within Canada and abroad," says Hardtke. "My focus is to build a customer centric set of winning services which will allow our clients to strategically link with their customers' requirements."

Peter's core responsibilities will focus on day to day operations, overseeing improvement initiatives and supporting technology and system upgrades by managing implementation within Operations.

"We are very excited to have Peter join our team," says Cameron Joyce. "His wealth of knowledge in healthcare supply chain operations will provide our clients with an even greater depth of expertise. We strive to know our clients' businesses as they do so we can provide the best solutions for them with great results."

"Peter is particularly well-positioned to help, bringing a greater awareness of our clients' perspectives to our team," adds Cameron.

Peter holds a Bachelor of Commerce degree from Ryerson Polytechnic University and P. Log., CITT, PMM and PMAC designations.
